FG IV - Project Officer - Labour Economist - Social Classes in the Digital Age

Position for: FG IV - Project Officer – Labour Economist	As the science and knowledge service of the Commission, the mission of DG Joint Research Centre is to support EU policies with independent evidence throughout the whole policy cycle. The JRC is located in 5 Member States (Belgium, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands and Spain). Further information is available at: https://ec.europa.eu/jrc/ The current vacancy is in the Directorate for Strategy, Work Programme and Resources. With the JRC Strategy 2030, the JRC reinforces its commitment to scientific excellence. The creation of the Scientific Development Unit (SDU) is one of the instruments to underpin this strategy. As part of the JRC's strategic scientific development, the Directorate has established and manages the Centre for Advanced Studies (CAS). The JRC is now looking for a Labour Economist to work within a novel CAS project on "Social Classes in the Digital Age". CAS provides an interdisciplinary and stimulating space where JRC scientists are encouraged to think beyond the conventional, look forward towards cutting-edge technology hand-in-hand with scientific excellence. The aim of the project is to update the traditional Social Sciences concept of Social Class in order to adapt it to the new economic realities of the Digital Age. By operationalising such a concept into a set of analytical tools, such as new class taxonomies, and applying them to contemporary phenomena, such as the decline of the middle class and job polarisation, the project will chart the current and future effects of digital technologies on inequalities and life chances, as well as the emergence of new types of economic relations. The labour economist will work in a multidisciplinary team comprising of JRC staff and external specialists. He/she will contribute to updating the concept of Social Class to the new realities of the digital age; to operationalising updated concepts into a set of analytical tools; and using big socio-economic databases to analyse labour markets, occupations and social classes in the EU.
